TROLLEY'S SLOW RETREAT Shoes Are

Postponed in Police Court.

PROSECUTOR PUGH'S NOTICE

He Will File New Information Every Day Until the Poles Are Removed. No Union Men to Be Kept in the Employ of This Corporation-Watch Kept on the Men.

"The trolley poles must go," said Assistant District Attorney Pugh yester-day, when a continuation in the case of the Eckington and Soldiers' Home Railway charged with violating the District regu lation in occupying public space, was asked for before Judge Miller.

W. Kesley Schoepf, the vice president of the railway corporation, was in court as representative of the company, though the information bore also the name of Hamilton Gray, the treasurer of the road, but it was shown that Mr. Gray was not in the city, and therefore that papers to appear before the police court bar had not been served on him. The president of the road is in Baltimore.

The defendant's attorney, Mr. John Ridout, after the charge had been read and a plea of not guilty entered, moved to quash the information on the ground that no ffense is specifically alleged against the defendant or any one.

"When will you file your motion?" "I have it now written out, but will file it as soon as it can be typewritten."
"I am ready to go on with this case," narked Mr. Pugh. CONTINUANCE REQUESTED.

Mr. Ridout then asked for a contin-nance. He said he had a very important engagement to fill, and he also wanted time to look up the authorities on the law involved so as to be prepared for an argument, as he thought the defendants could not be charged under the law as it

"I am willing to go on with the argument to morrow," he said.

The court thought, however, that Mr. Pugh should be consulted as to a definite date for the continuation of a trial, but as that gentleman was not disposed to have the case continued at all. Judge Miller ordered a postponement until Monday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock.

"I will now notify counsel that I will issue informations against this road every day until the cases are disposed of," exclaimed the prosecutor, thinking of his old factics in prior cases under the same law. "New York avenue is filled with poles and they will have to go."

"I am sure that the honorable court will not permit any oppression," said Mr. Ridout.

Judge Miller made no response to this, ut ordered that Mr. Schoopf's personal bonds be taken to appear before him on Monday for trial.

Monday for trial.

Last evening an additional information was asset by Mr. Pugh and the defendant will again be in court this morning.

UNION MEN NOT WANTED. "No union men need apply." is the motto of the Eckington and Soldiers' Home Railway Company. This corporation pro-poses to get rid of all amonmen in its employ and to secure their employes under such conditions that protest or petition may sever be heard or circulated no matter how hever the hearn or circulated to matter how hard the screws may be put upon the drivers and conductors. It has been for some time a settled fact that if a man desired to lose his job on the Eckington road, or its several branches, he had but to join a lator union and his dismissal would come speedily enough to sult even the most expeditions. Towards the charge of last week there enough to suit even the most expeditions. Towards the close of last week there was a flutter in the camp when an edict went forth from General Manager Schoepf, that a mighty tribunal would be in session to try Conductors Anderson, Hussey and Lamb for the crime of belonging to an organization which has for its objects the organization which has for its objects the elevation and protection of the working main. The men were led into the presence of Manager Schoept and asked if they belonged to any labor organization. It had been reported by the spiles or inspectors, as they are called, of the company, that these three, if not members, were faverably neithed towards the Prowere favorably inclined towards the Prospilre summer stock of the assigned (E. R. Hamilton & Co., which we bought e selling at the wonderfully low price of tective Street Railway Union.

DENIED THE CHARGE. They were in turn conducted into the private office and told of what was charged that they were members, and they told the truth. It was also urged upon the three culprits that they must in the future avoid even the appearance of evil and then they were released.

Especial emphasis was laid upon the fact that the other conductors and the motor-men and drivers were to be warned. This proved to be a shrewdgame of Mr. Schoepf's, men and overs we can be a since. This proved to be a shrewdrame of Mr. Schoepf's, for he knew that so thoroughly would the affair be circulated that by this means better and less dangerous results could be achieved. Events have shown the sagacity of this view, for there is not a man on the road who will dare talk to any one suspected of being affiliated, in even the most remote manner, with the union for fear that he may be spied upon and on the morrow be premptorily dismissed. This is only the beginning of the trouble the men think, and they yesterday stated that they were of the opinion that every few days men would be hashed up and cross-questioned. There are few men on this road who belong to the Protective Street Railway Union, because of the fear with which the officials have inspired them.

ROUSED SCHOEPF'S IRE. Recently a petition was circulated among the employes on the G street section asking that two cars, whose drivers and conductors had been dismissed, might be given in charge of several extra men who, having large families to support, needed the work.

This paper was signed by all of the men interested, and even by those who would lose a part of their pay by the proposed arrangement. The need of the men was well known, and they were willing to work and only asked for an opporwas wen known, and they were wining to work, and only asked for an oppor-tunity. The petition was sent in and they awaited developments. General Manager Schoepf was almost prostrated at the idea of the conductors, drivers and notormen presuming to even address a paper to him, and nothing short address a paper to aim, and nothing short of instant discharge would have healed his wounded dignaty. They were all sent for and ranged in line.

After considerable begging and coaxing he consented with reinctance to accept a letter of profound apology expressing deep himility and submission, and begging forgiveness for the presumption which they had shown in addressing the manager, Accordingly this letter, couched in words of submission, was sent in, and the men thus far have heard nothing further of

UNION MEN DISMISSED. Soon after the formation of the Proterrive Street Railway Union Mr. Schoepf made it his business to, be in the neigh-made it his business to be in the neighborhood on the evening upon which the as sociation met. Every man from the Eckington road and its tributaries who even stiended the session soon after was dismissed and no satisfactory reason assigned for the discharge.

Mr. Schoepf was seen last night by a Times reporter. He was closeted with Superintendent Todd at his office in the McGill building, and only after considerable delay an audience with him was obtained. In reply to a question Mr. Schoepf stated that he was unwilling to be interviewed on any subject connected with organized labor, and his views on, and attitude towards, the Protective Street Railway Unwards, the Protective Street Railway Union he would not give to any paper.

CLOSED AGAINST USURY.

8th and Market Space.

District Building No Longer a Safe Harbor For Shylocks. Both the front and back doors of the District Building have been cloved against even the suspicion of usury. This has been the result of a little expose made there a few days ago, in which an employe named Hawkins was being charged interest on $90 at the furious rate of 120 per amount.

Commissioner Ross immediately ordered. an investigation and referred the whole motter to Auditor Petty, as the suditor had paid over to Malloy several amounts out of Hawkins' salary, Policeman Malloy informed Hawkins

debt, although Hawkins holds receipts to show that he had paid Malloy 850. This was pretty tough financiering and Hawkins was pretty tough fanamering and Hawkins declined to pay it and made the care public. Auditor Petry heard the statements of both men, and has made a written report to Commissioner Ross. Mr. Fetry finds that a liberal interest on the 800 for about two years would be about $13. He further finds after taking all of Hawkins' payments into account that Mr. Malloy is entitled to about $6 instead of $60.

The auditor says politely in his report that the transactions were conducted in an unbusiness like manner on both sides.

an unbusiness like manner on both sides.

an unbusiness like manner on both sides. Mailoy did not give Hawkins credit for his payments and Hawkins did not ask for them, so Mailoy conscientionsly believed that Hawkins owed him $60.

Mr. Petry suid vesteday that he would no longer honor orders from outsiders on employes salaries. He was not aware he said that that custom had been atolished in other departments of the government until he saw it in The Times.

Accused of Selling Skimmed Milk. William F. Auth, a grocer, was before Judge Miller yesterday on the charge of selling skimmed milk. It was claimed that the milk was left in front of his place and that the inspector had not even come into his store.
